Cameron maintains a broad-based practice related to tax-exempt organizations. She partners with tax-exempt organizations on a range of issues, including formation, exemption, compliance issues, grant-making, and corporate governance. She works with public charities, private foundations, social welfare organizations, and other exempt organizations to enhance their tax compliance and improve their governance.

She also works on a range of trust and estate related matters, including estate planning, charitable planning, and business succession planning. She strives to holistically capture the family dynamic and develop plans that reflect the family's values and achieve the family's financial, charitable, legacy and personal goals.
