Carlos has closed over four billion dollars of financing transactions, involving assets located throughout the United States. His practice involves drafting loan documents, reviewing due diligence, and negotiating on behalf of lenders and issuers.

In 2022, Carlos was seconded to Fannie Mae's multifamily legal team, where he handled a number of environmental, structuring and regulatory issues associated with the DUS loan program.

In addition to finance work, Carlos also represents clients in pro bono matters involving removal proceedings, U-Visa applications, and other complex immigration issues.
